DOUBLE YELLOW LINES AT BENHILL WOOD ROAD/ ALL SAINTS JUNCTION

Residents have expressed concern for some time at the dangerous parking on the junction between Benhill Wood Road and All Saints Road.

This obscures the sight lines for traffic turning out of Benhill Wood Road, and is also a danger for people crossing the road at this point. This is particularly so for children walking to All Saints (Benhilton) Primary School just down the road.

The Council is proposing double yellow lines. On the western side of Benhill Wood Road these will stretch from the entrance to 14 All Saints Road for a distance of 30 metres into Benhill Wood Road. On the eastern side they will stretch for 90 m past the entrance to the Korean Church to join up with the existing yellow line in Benhill Wood Road. While we support the yellow lines on the corners, we have a concern that this proposal may be too restrictive and may simply move the parking elsewhere.

As your local councillors can we urge you to respond to the Council's consultation to ensure your views are taken into account.
